Repo organization/structure:

One of the perks of using Ruby on Rails as our framework was that it did a lot of the legwork for us as far as organization and structure. There were two files that held the main source code for this project, our main homepage (app/views/fourteeners/index.html.erb) and our fourteener profile pages (app/views/fourteeners/shows.html.erb). Our team worked on both of these pages to design and format the website.

Here are photos of our team's dogs. They worked really hard to support us through this project:
